

Philosophy and Kafka

The relationship of philosophy with Kafkas oeuvre is complex. It has been argued that Kafkas novels and stories defy philosophic extrapolation; conversely, it has also been suggested that precisely the tendency of Kafkas writings to elude discursive solution is itself a philosophical tendency, one that is somehow contributing to a wiser relationship of human beings with language. These matters are the focus of the proposed volume on Philosophy and Kafka. The proposed collection brings together essays that interrogate the relationship of philosophy and Kafka, and offer new and original interpretations. The volume obviously cannot claim completeness, but it partially does justice to the multiplicity of philosophical issues and philosophical interpretations at stake. This variety informs the composition of the volume itself. A number of essays focus on specific philosophical commentaries on Kafkas work, from Adornos to Agambens, from Arendts to Benjamins, from Deleuze and Guattaris to Derridas. A number of essays consider the possible relevance of certain philosophical outlooks for examining Kafkas writings: here Kafkas name goes alongside those of Socrates, Kant, Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Wittgenstein, Buber, Heidegger, Blanchot, and Levinas. Finally, a number of essays consider Kafkas writings in terms of a specific philosophical theme, such as communication and subjectivity, language and meaning, knowledge and truth, the human/animal divide, justice, and freedom. In all contributions to the volume, such themes, motifs, and interpretations arise. To varying degrees, all essays are concerned with the relationship of literature and philosophy, and thus with the philosophical significance of Kafkas writings.
