

Long Time Coming

LONG TIME COMING tells the story of a Louisiana lawyer's struggle to help the mother of his close friend and Vietnam War buddy escape from the corrupting power held by the few in a Southern Louisiana town. It tells of a tragic episode of domestic violence that unleashes the turbulence of sins of the past, long since buried and considered dead. Can C.C. Bienvenue defend the mother of his closest friend, a fellow lawyer who works for the local district attorney? Will a case of apparent self-defense by a black woman respected in the community stand before the local judge who happens to be CC's father-in-law and the local political power boss of the area? Why does a simple case of a wife protecting herself from a husband's drunken attack cause such hostility and animosity from the District Attorney and the judge? To unravel the mystery CC must muster all of his ability and the help of his family and friends to unlock the mystery. You are invited to join with CC in the unlocking of the mystery that was hidden for so long and for which justice was such a long time coming. Long Time Coming is the first novel of Channon Bourgeois.
